Annual Report 2017

From the President's DESK

Dear Friend of FEE,

"Freedom is never more than one generation away from extinction. We didn't pass it to our children in the bloodstream. It must be fought for, protected, and handed on for them to do the same, or one day we will spend our sunset years telling our children and our children's children what it was once like in the United States where men were free."

Those wise words from America's 40th President, Ronald Reagan, are as true as ever. And his point is more urgent today than when he made it decades ago.

By 2020, there will be 12 million more young people eligible to vote in the U.S. alone. In our schools and universities, far too many of them are being taught that socialism is respectable and compassionate while capitalism is repugnant and greedy. Freedom will simply not be possible in a future shaped primarily by such egregious errors, so it's vital that we work harder and smarter to offer a better vision.

This is why FEE focuses exclusively on educating young "newcomers"—those previously unaware of the "freedom philosophy" of individual initiative and responsibility, limited government, entrepreneurship, free-market economics, and personal character.

FEE employs a growing variety of leveraged and scalable programs in an effort to mold the lens through which Millennials view the world. This annual report for 2017 tells you more about how we're doing that, and how we remain one of your best investments for freedom's future!

Sincerely,

Lawrence W. Reed
President

The Challenge
FREEDOM FACES

By 2020, 12 million more young people will reach voting age in the U.S. In our schools and universities, they will learn to admire socialism and support the Progressive agenda.

How will they learn to view the world through a free-market lens unless we reach out and educate them with the principles of a free society?

Classroom RESOURCES

Economics in One Day

FEE's Economics in One Day is a 3-5 hour classroom workshop that introduces students to the humane values and ethical principles of free markets, inspiring them to view individual liberty, economic freedom, and personal character as the keys to human prosperity.

Since its introduction in 2016, Economics in One Day has educated over 12,000 students worldwide and has been translated into nearly a dozen languages.

Classroom Kits

Introduced in 2017, FEE's Classroom Kits are marketed primarily toward high school educators looking for supplementary materials that introduce their students to free-market economics, individual liberty, and personal character.

In the coming year, FEE will distribute 500 Classroom Kits nationwide, each including 50 printed and digital copies of four life-changing texts, as well as lesson plans and study guides.

Online LEARNING

In 2015, FEE released our first online course, the Economics of Entrepreneurship—a 30-hour online course designed to offer high school and college students an in-depth education on the interaction between free markets, individual freedom, entrepreneurship, and personal character.

FEE now offers 10 online courses at no charge that teach economics, law, and U.S. government from a free-market and individual liberty perspective.

FEE'S ONLINE COURSES

FEE leverages world-class content, social media expertise, valuable partnerships, and cutting-edge marketing technology to encourage young people to engage with our content in meaningful ways across the web.

Data are for the calendar year of 2017

YOUTH EDUCATION & AUDIENCE RESEARCH PROJECT

In 2017, FEE began our three-year Youth Education & Audience Research (“YEAR”) project, which combines creative online media with rigorous research to measure the effectiveness of media forms, messaging types, and online distribution strategies on various segments of the youth audience.

Leveraging original market research on Millennials and Generation Z, FEE is focusing on promoting materials to four target segments in order to both encourage engagement in our ideas and gather valuable messaging feedback.

YEAR’S TARGET AUDIENCES

-  INDEPENDENTS, the largest group (29%), are curious and engaged in current events, yet hold a mix of ideological perspectives across economic, social, and military issues.
-  SECULAR MODERATES (8%) hold some skepticism of government action without a particularly consistent ideological perspective.
-  RELIGIOUS MODERATES (6%) align with many conservative perspectives on social and military issues, but also hold many beliefs in the need for government action.
-  CONSERVATIVES (5%) align fairly well with limited government and free-market principles, but they can sometimes lack the deep educational underpinning of these ideas.

In 2017, FEE produced a total of 81 ORIGINAL VIDEOS and 52 AUDIO PODCASTS, watched for a total of 5.3 MILLION MINUTES.

FEE in ACTION

01 In January 2017, high school students in Sri Lanka participated in an Economics in One Day workshop organized by a FEE donor.

02 FEE welcomed 76 high school students in July to our three-day Economics of Entrepreneurship seminar at Lindenwood University in St. Louis.

03 FEE Campus Ambassadors Savannah Lindquist and Christian Newman wave the FEE flag at Wake Forest University.

04 Wikipedia founder Jimmy Wales inspires FEEcon's 700 attendees with his personal story of failure and success, and his views on the principles of a free society.

05 On October 27th, 2017, FEE hosted our largest ever One-Day Seminar-The Morality of Capitalism-for 305 college students at Georgia State University. Pictured, students participate in FEE's Trading Game.

06 In 2017, nearly 20,000 individuals across the world attended presentations by FEE leadership. These typically occur on school campuses, and also at conferences, high school graduations, and teacher trainings, among others. Here, FEE president Lawrence W. Reed lectures from the main stage at FreedomFest in Las Vegas.
